

President's Column

May 2017

Let me begin by thanking everyone who took the time to vote in the 2017 AAEA Elections. Kudos to the nominating committee. They pulled together an outstanding set of candidates. Congratulations to David Zilberman from the University of California, Berkeley who was elected incoming President-Elect and to our newly elected incoming directors, Kathy Baylis from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and Norbert Wilson from Tufts University. I'm excited to work with David, Kathy, and Norbert over the next year.

The 2017 AAEA Annual Meeting in Chicago is just around the corner, and we have been preparing in earnest to make this one of the best meetings yet. The meetings are an excellent opportunity to learn from each other, see old friends, and make new ones as well. If you haven't already done so, now is the time to register and secure hotel reservations.

We last met in Chicago for an annual meeting sixteen years ago. Bruce Gardner was the AAEA President, Jean Kinsey gave the Presidential Address, and I was a young assistant professor, merely a year out of graduate school. My younger self would have been incredulous at the prospect of one day being AAEA President. I owe a great deal to AAEA and its members for the opportunities for professional development and growth. There are many opportunities for you to get engaged at the meeting as well. Be sure to: plan on attending a section meeting on Sunday; run for a section office; volunteer for a committee; attend the reunions and receptions; try to learn something new; and most importantly, have fun!

A great way to learn what's happening at the meetings is to download the meeting app. The app will help you access the annual meeting schedule, customize your agenda with personal appointments, quickly find a meeting room using interactive maps, and network by seeing who is attending and share contact information with other attendees. One of the changes you'll see is a return of a second night of reunions; they're now on Sunday and Monday nights.

The meetings are book-ended by two outstanding speakers. The meetings officially kick off Sunday night with Charles Plott, the William D. Hacker Professor of Economics and Political Science at the California Institute of Technology, giving the Keynote Address. Plott is a pioneer in the field of experimental economics and political science, and he made numerous seminal contributions to the fields. One of the last official events of the meeting is the Galbraith Forum, which will be given Tuesday night by Dan Ariely, the James B. Duke Professor of Psychology and Behavioral Economics at Duke University. Dan is one of the key players in the emerging field of behavioral economics and is author of the popular book Predictably Irrational. I am excited to hear what perspectives these outstanding scholars share in common and, perhaps more interestingly, where they differ.

Our other Plenary Speakers include Scott Swinton's Presidential Address on Monday morning and Julian Alston's Fellow's Address on Tuesday morning. Despite the early morning start time, these are "don't miss" events. This year, there are four invited paper sessions; two dealing with biofuel policies and two related to behavioral economics and consumer choice. In addition, there are more than 400 papers being presented as part of Invited Paper and Selected Paper sessions, along with 84 Organized Symposia and Track Sessions. On top of that are another 300 posters. Also new this year,

AAEA News

Poster Presentations and Receptions will take place on Monday and Tuesday. A different group of posters will be displayed each day.

It is a shame that time will only allow seeing only a fraction of the great work by our members.

I hope you will take time on Monday evening to honor and cheer on our colleagues at the 2017 AAEA Annual Awards and Fellows Recognition Ceremony. Join me in congratulating this year's slate of AAEA Fellows: Philip Garcia, Harry M. Kaiser, Mario J. Miranda, Damona Doye, and Robert J. Myers.

I look forward to seeing you in Chicago!

Jayson L. Lusk
AAEA President

2017 AAEA Annual Meeting:

Call for Participation for AEM/Graduate Student Section Case Study Competition

The AEM/Graduate Student Section Case Study Competition allows graduate students to test their communication skills and ability to apply knowledge of agricultural economics and agribusiness subjects to practical situations. Students competing in the competition will receive a copy of the case study at least two weeks in advance of the 2017 AAEA Annual Meeting.

Competition Rules: Each team should prepare an oral summary of their solution to the case that will last no more than 15 minutes. Presentations lasting more than 15 minutes will be penalized. After the presentation, teams should be prepared to answer questions from the judges on their interpretation of the case.

Teams can be comprised of up to three graduate students. Students may either compete as a team from the same school, or may choose to be mixed with students from other schools. If there is only one student from a school that wants to participate, the student can compete on their own, or he/she can be matched with other students. In the case of teams that are matched with individuals from different universities, competitors will be notified of their teammates as soon as possible, but no later than the same day the case is announced.

Prizes: The top three teams will receive plaques and cash prizes.

- First Place: $300
- Second Place: $200
- Third Place: $100

Specific 2017 Information: The number of rounds will be determined by the number of teams entered. The final round will be composed of the top three teams. In addition to plaques and cash prizes, the three finalist teams will also be recognized during the 2017 AAEA Annual Awards & Fellows Recognition Ceremony.

- Sunday, July 30, 8:00 am – 3:00 pm:
First Rounds of Competition
- Monday, July 31, 1:30 pm – 4:00 pm:
Final Round (if necessary)
- Monday, July 31, 6:00 pm – 7:15 pm:
Awards Ceremony

Students participating in the case study competition will need to be registered for the Annual Meeting AND the Case Study Competition.

1. Students should register for the AAEA Annual Meeting through the 2017 Annual Meeting Registration Form which is available online at <http://www.aaea.org/meetings/2017-aaea-annual-meeting>
2. Each team must also complete the Case Study registration form identifying teammates and send it to AAEA (info@aaea.org) no later than June 12, 2017.

Please direct any questions regarding the 2017 AAEA Case Study Competition to Dr. Lia Nogueira-Rodriguez (lia.nogueira@unl.edu) or GSS Section Chair, Aaron Ates (aaron.ates@okstate.edu).

Undergraduate Student Section Activities

On behalf of the Undergraduate Student Section of the Agricultural & Applied Economics Association, we cordially invite you and your students to attend and participate in the 2017 AAEA Annual Meeting in Chicago (July 30–August 1, 2017). Our section offers a wide variety of professional development opportunities for undergraduate students of agricultural and applied economics:

- Academic Bowl Competition
- Student Paper Competition
- Earl O. Heady Decision Sciences Spreadsheet Competition
- Outstanding Chapter Competition
- Creative Club Competition

Students can interact with representatives of major graduate programs in our profession to discuss MS and PhD programs. Our reception on Sunday night (July 30, 2017) is a great opportunity for your students to meet and forge lifelong friendships with other students from over 20 domestic and several Canadian universities. On Monday night, immediately following the final round of the Academic Bowl Competition, we recognize and celebrate student accomplishments at the Awards Ceremony. Additionally on Monday night, in our section's business meeting, students have the opportunity to run for elected student leadership positions within our section.

To encourage participation, the student registration fees are only $20 per student. As a further incentive to participate, there is a total of $1,800 in prize money, various award plaques, and of course bragging rights to be national champions in a given competition. All of the required registration forms, competition rules, and overview of the Undergraduate Student Section may be found at:

<http://www.aaea.org/membership/sections/ss-aaea/aaea-annual-meeting>.

Grant Writing by Early Career Professionals Pre-Conference Workshop

“Money Talks” Hear first-hand what donors think is most important in proposal preparation

Saturday, July 29, 2017 at 7:30 am – 2:00 pm (Registration opens at 7:00 am). Fee: $66

This workshop aims to strengthen the core grant writing skills of early career professionals, offering the opportunity to learn more about the perspectives of major funding organizations by engaging directly with donor representatives. The event will also facilitate networking among young early career professionals.

Panelists:

- Tom Baerwald, National Science Foundation
- Caron Gala, Council on Food, Agricultural and Resource Economics
- Mariana Kim, Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation
- James Oehmke, U.S. Agency for International Development
- Robbin Shoemaker, National Institute of Food and Agriculture

Intended Audience: AAEA Early Career Professional members, including students and recent graduates (within four years of PhD completion).

This workshop is co-sponsored by the International, Senior and Africa Sections of AAEA and C-FARE, with generous support from the AAEA trust. Grants available for first 20 registered Graduate Students or Early Career Professionals through funding from the AAEA Trust

Other News

Call for Proposals:UCLA Law School Animal Law and Policy Small Grants Program

Thanks to generous funding from Mr. Bob Barker, UCLA Law School is pleased to offer the Animal Law and Policy Small Grants Program ("UCLA ALP Program"). <http://law.ucla.edu/centers/social-policy/animal-law-grants-program> The UCLA ALP Program exists to encourage new academic empirical research, with the goal of developing better empirical bases from which to understand, evaluate, and pursue animal law reform. Applicants from a variety of academic disciplinary backgrounds, including economics, sociology, demography, social psychology, moral psychology, medicine, plant-based nutritional science, cognitive science, law, public health, and public policy are encouraged to apply. The UCLA ALP Program has two goals:

- Fostering sound empirical -- quantitative or qualitative -- knowledge related to human uses of animals, alternatives to uses of animals, and humans' relationship to animals, which animal law and policy academics and practitioners could use to develop animal law and policy reform applications
- Supporting empirical research that enables animal law and policy academics and practitioners to develop increasingly more sophisticated understandings of the impact of public policies and laws that affect animals directly or indirectly

Advanced-level graduate students are strongly encouraged to apply. Established scholars interested in expanding their non-legal research agenda to include topics related to the UCLA ALP Program's goals are also welcome. The UCLA ALP Program does not support animal research. Applications are due by October 15, 2017. For more information, please visit: <http://law.ucla.edu/centers/social-policy/animal-law-grants-program>

Journal of Food Products Marketing: Special Issue on Food Waste

The Journal of Food Products Marketing will launch a new series of special issues exploring Contemporary Topics in Food Marketing. The first special issue will be guest edited by Dr. Brian Roe and Danyi Qi of the Department of Agricultural, Environmental and Development Economics at The Ohio State University on Food Waste: Marketing Strategies. Possible topics include:

- Labeling innovations
- Consumer response
- Food waste measurement
- Food recovery programs
- Gleaning and markets

Submissions should follow the manuscript style guidelines for the Journal of Food Products Marketing <http://www.tandfonline.com/toc/wfpm20/current>.

All manuscripts should be submitted online <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/wfpm>. The deadline for receiving manuscripts is October 1, 2017.

Colleagues interested in working with the Editorial Board to design and manage other special issues should contact Dr. Neal Hooker, Editor at Hooker.27@osu.edu. Possible topics for future special issues include:

- Advances in Food Advertising
- Grocery Consolidation
- Digital Marketing for Food Brands and Retailers
- Food Marketing in Asia
- Food Innovation/Design

The Journal of Food Products Marketing serves as a forum for the exchange and dissemination of food marketing knowledge and experiences. Designed to study the characteristics and outcomes of food marketing systems around the world, the journal critically examines contemporary food marketing challenges and solutions. Scholars, practitioners, and public policymakers share practical and insightful information—both descriptive and analytical—on food marketing theory and practice. The Journal of Food Products Marketing enables marketing specialists to stay up-to-date through theoretical and empirical insights and to make informed decisions by enhancing our understanding of the functions, institutions, and environments of food marketing systems.

IAAE: Inter-Conference Symposium

Submission of full papers:

Full papers written in English should be submitted via the ConfTool system NO LATER than June 1, 2017. The papers should be no longer than 10 pages total including Tables and Figures (References do not count in the 10 page limit). Papers should be double spaced, use 12-point Times New Roman Font and have one-inch margins all around. The papers should provide a background section, a clear explanation of the core research question(s), data and methods used, results, conclusions, and key references. Authors are asked to adhere to all stated requirements.

The corresponding author of each submitted paper commits to review, at most, three papers from other authors. In addition to obtaining a suitable evaluation, final paper acceptance is contingent upon the timely submission of the reviews for these papers.

Notifications of selected papers will be sent by July 1, 2017. At least one author of an accepted paper must register and pay the conference fee no later than August 15, 2017 for the paper to be included in the program. All other participants must be registered no later than September 1, 2017.

POSTERS: Some papers might be assigned to a Poster Presentation depending on recommendations made by the reviewers. During the Visual Presentation sessions, participants will circulate to hear your presentation and discuss your research. You should aim to present for approximately five minutes and then be prepared to answer questions.

ORGANIZED PANELS: We invite the submission of Organized Panels, with a due date of May 30, 2017. These proposals should be submitted by email to info@iaae2017talca.org. The Scientific Committee will be responsible for the evaluation and final decision regarding the proposals.

The purpose of the organized panels, which will be held as plenary or part of the parallel sessions, is to bring together 3–4 panelists that are working on a common topic, which may be related to the theme of the Symposium. The topic can focus on policy issues, research methods, emerging research results, and teaching or outreach. The sessions may have different formats but the typical arrangement is short presentations on a common theme. Regardless of the format proposed, all panels need to allocate an important share of the available time for interactions among the panelists and between the panelists and the audience (at least 30 minutes from a total of 90).

The proposals need to include: session title; session rationale; names and contact information for the organizer and other participants; and a description of the format including plans for discussion. The proposal should be no longer than two pages.
