Call for Applications:

Managing Editor of the Applied Economic Perspectives and Policy

The AAEA Executive Board invites applications for one Managing Editor for Applied Economic Perspectives and Policy (AEPP). The degree to which candidate's expertise complements that of the continuing editors will be considered in the selection process. AAEA is particularly interested in candidates who will bring ideas and innovations for helping AEPP to further its mission. Information about AEPP, its policies, and mission is available at www.aaea.org/publications/aepp.

APPLIED ECONOMIC PERSPECTIVES
AND POLICY
Formerly Review of Agricultural Economics

Managing Editor Responsibilities

The Managing Editor will work with an editorial team comprised of two additional Submitted Article Editors to manage the manuscript review process. The Managing Editor responsibilities include:

- Development and management of Featured Articles
- Submitted manuscript management which includes, but is not limited to, monitoring review timelines and distribution of submissions
- Oversight of special projects such as special issues and supplements
- Manage communications between editors
- Liaise on behalf of the journal with OUP and the AAEA Board

The AEPP editorial process employs electronic submission of manuscripts and interchange between editors and reviewers. An electronic system that tracks manuscripts through submission, review, and editorial decision is used by the editors for managing work flow. Authors can also query this system for email reports on the status in the editorial process of a submitted manuscript. The editors also oversee the work of Oxford University Press in preparing copy for printing and reviewing proofs.

The new editor should be prepared to begin on January 1, 2017. There may be some training and coordination work starting around November 1, 2016.

Application Requirements

Applications should include:

- A statement of editorial philosophy and ideas for furthering the journal's goals
- Indication of the candidate's principal areas of expertise to support the AEPP's mission
- Curriculum vitae
- Statement of administrative and financial support to be provided by the host institution

AAEA will provide financial assistance to defray some portion of the editor's time and most expenses. Applications should be sent electronically via PDF to Brian Mondragón Jones, Executive Director, at bmjones@aaea.org by May 1, 2016. Decisions will be made by early June.

Call for Applications:

Editorship of the Applied Economic Perspectives and Policy

The AAEA Executive Board invites applications for one Editor for Applied Economic Perspectives and Policy (AEPP) to serve from 2017 through 2019. This call for applications is for an editor to manage Submitted Articles which contain original research results addressing real-world problems with sound research approaches and/or have strong policy relevance within the subject matter of the journal. The degree to which candidate's expertise complements that of the continuing editors will be considered in the selection process. AAEA is particularly interested in candidates who will bring ideas and innovations for helping AEPP to further its mission.

Submitted articles will meet the normal standards for scholarly publication, but should also be accessible to the broader audience of agricultural and applied economists working outside academia. Submitted articles should emphasize one or more of the following: a) practical implications for public policy; b) clarification of research implications so as to maximize accessibility and cross-fertilization across specific areas of research; c) empirical comparison of competing theories, explanations, and approaches that can refine future research; and d) development of fruitful directions for future research. Additional information about the AEPP, its policies and mission is available at www.aaea.org/publications/aepp.

The editor will work with an editorial team comprised of another Submitted Articles Editor and a Managing Editor to manage the manuscript review process. The Submitted Articles Editors are responsible for day-to-day issues relating to submitted articles, assisting with development of the Special Issues, and revising editorial policy. The AEPP editorial process employs electronic submission of manuscripts and interchange between editors and reviewers. An electronic system that tracks manuscripts through submission, review, and editorial decision is used by the editors for managing work flow. Authors can also query this system for email reports on the status in the editorial process of a submitted manuscript. The editors also oversee the work of Oxford University Press in preparing copy for printing and reviewing proofs.

The new editor should be prepared to begin on January 1, 2017. There may be some training and coordination work starting around November 1, 2016. Applications should include a statement of editorial philosophy and ideas for furthering the journal's goals, an indication of the candidate's principal areas of expertise to support the AEPP's mission, a curriculum vitae, and a statement of administrative and financial support to be provided by the host institution. AAEA will provide financial assistance to defray some portion of the editor's time and most expenses. Applications should be sent electronically via PDF to Brian Mondragón Jones, Executive Director, at bmjones@aaea.org by May 1, 2016. Decisions will be made by early June. Third-party nominations of potentially interested candidates who can then be solicited for their materials are also welcome.

2016 AAEA Annual Meeting Activities

On behalf of the Undergraduate Student Section of the Agricultural & Applied Economics Association, we cordially invite you and your students to attend and participate in the AAEA Annual Meeting in Boston (July 31–August 2, 2016). Our section offers a wide variety of professional development opportunities for undergraduate students of agricultural and applied economics:

- Academic Bowl Competition
- Student Paper Competition
- Earl O. Heady Decision Sciences Spreadsheet Competition
- Outstanding Chapter Competition
- Creative Club Competition

In addition to the aforementioned competitions, students can interact with representatives of major graduate programs in our profession to discuss MS and PhD programs. Our reception on Sunday night (July 31, 2016) is a great opportunity for your students to meet and forge lifelong friendships with other students from over 20 domestic and several Canadian universities. On Monday night, immediately following the final round of the Academic Bowl Competition, we recognize and celebrate student accomplishments at the Awards Ceremony. Additionally on Monday night, in our section's business meeting, students have the opportunity to run for elected student leadership positions within our section.

To encourage participation, the student registration fees this year are only $20 per student. As a further incentive to participate, there is a total of $1,800 in prize money, various award plaques, and of course bragging rights to be national champions in a given competition. All of the required registration forms, competition rules, and overview of the Undergraduate Student Section may be found at <http://www.aea.org/membership/sections/ss-aea/>. If you have any questions, please contact me at Tyler.Mark@uky.edu.

Call for Participation:
AEM/GSS Sections Case Study Competition

The AEM/Graduate Student Section Case Study Competition allows graduate students to test their communication skills and their ability to apply their knowledge of agricultural economics and agribusiness subjects to practical situations. Students competing in the competition will receive a copy of the case study at least two weeks in advance of the AAEA annual meetings.

Rules

Each team should prepare an oral summary of their solution to the case that will last no more than 15 minutes. Presentations lasting longer than 15 minutes will be penalized. After the presentation, teams should be prepared to answer questions from the judges on their interpretation of the case.

Teams can be comprised of up to three graduate students. Students may either compete as a team from the same school, or may choose to be mixed with students from other schools. If there is only one student from a school that wants to participate, the student can compete on their own, or he/she can be matched with other students. In the case of teams that are matched with individuals from different universities, competitors will be notified of their teammates as soon as possible, but no later than the same day the case is announced.

Prizes

The top three teams will receive plaques and cash prizes.

- First Place: $300
- Second Place: $200
- Third Place: $100

Specific Information

The number of rounds will be determined by the number of teams entered. The final round will be composed of the top 3 teams. In addition to plaques and cash prizes, the three finalist teams will also be recognized during the AAEA Awards Ceremony.

- Sunday, July 31, 8:00am – 3:00pm: First Rounds of Competition
- Monday, August 1, 1:30pm – 4:00pm: Final Round
- Monday, August 1, 6:30pm – 7:30pm: Awards Ceremony

*Students participating in the case study competition will need to be registered for the 2016 AAEA Annual Meeting AND the Case Study Competition.

Students should register for the AAEA Annual Meeting through the 2016 Annual Meeting Registration Form which is available online at <http://www.aaea.org/meetings/2016-aaea-annual-meeting/registration>.

Each team must also complete the Case Study registration form identifying their teammates and send it to AAEA no later than June 13, 2016. The form can be accessed online at <http://www.aaea.org/membership/sections/gss/case-study-competition>.

Please direct any questions regarding the 2016 AAEA Case Study Competition to Dr. James Sterns (jasterns@oregonstate.edu) or GSS Section Chair, Clint Neill (clinton.neill@okstate.edu).

2016 Extension Competition for Graduate Students

AAEA Boston, MA, July 31– August 2

The Extension and Graduate Student Sections of the Agricultural and Applied Economics Association announce a competition for graduate students for 2016. This competition, sponsored jointly by the Extension Section and the Graduate Student Section, provides graduate student competitors the opportunity to develop extension and outreach programs from their research. The development of education materials and presentations suitable for a general public audience is expected.

We encourage all departments with graduate students in agricultural economics, agribusiness, natural resource economics, community resource economics, applied economics or similar programs related to agriculture and/or the food system to inform their students about this important competition. See full details for the competition here.

The purpose of the competition is to provide incentives to graduate students to learn to prepare and present appropriate analytical results for an extension (usually non–economist) audience. This can be based upon the graduate student’s research for a thesis or dissertation. Participation in the competition is expected to enhance the professional growth of the participating students regarding extension programs.

Eligible applicants are:

- Graduate students currently engaged in agricultural economics, agribusiness, natural resources, and community resource economics.
- Applied or similar economics MS or PhD programs related to agriculture and/or the food system.
- Those who graduated from such programs in 2015 or later.

Note: Participants must identify and work with a mentor with experience in outreach or extension activities.

Competition Application Information

Applications should be addressed to Maria Marshall and must include:

1. Student’s name, university, department, address and contact information.
2. Title of the extension program to be delivered.
3. A summary of the proposed extension program. This should include target audience, delivery plans, communication methods and activities planned for distributing the information to the public such as with fact sheets, pamphlets, press releases, reports, web sites, streaming videos, spreadsheets, workshops, PowerPoint presentations and training activities to be conducted (4 page maximum).
4. A profile of the student applicant’s background as well as the related thesis title and brief description of the research (maximum 1 page).
5. The mentor’s name, address and description of the mentor’s role in assisting the student with this project.

Applications must be submitted electronically no later than 5:00 pm on May 31, 2016.

Each finalist must develop oral and visual presentations (15 minutes in length) for delivery at the 2016 AAEA Annual Meeting in Boston, MA. Following the 15 minute presentation the judges will have 5 minutes of questions. The competition begins at 8am on Sunday, July 31st.

The top three finalists are be expected to make presentations during an AAEA Extension track session.

Cash awards will be given to those judged to be the top three graduate students in this competition. Award funding is provided the AAEA Extension Section. Awards are:

First Place: $1,000 and a plaque

Second Place: $300 and a certificate

Third Place: $200 and a certificate

2017 ASSA Annual Meeting

President-elect Jayson Lusk is soliciting proposals and suggestions for AAEA invited paper sessions at the 2017 Allied Social Sciences Association (ASSA) Annual Meeting in Chicago, IL, January, 6-8, 2017. Preference will be given to those proposals that add to knowledge on public issues of national and international importance or expand capabilities and tools for economic research.

Objective

AAEA sessions at the ASSA Annual Meeting share new knowledge with members of other economics associations as well as with AAEA members. Sessions may be jointly sponsored with other ASSA member associations. AAEA encourages sessions that will draw widely from ASSA attendees. Therefore, preference will be given to proposals that jointly serve the interests of the AAEA and other economists more broadly.

Publication in AJAE

Papers in these Invited Paper sessions will be considered for publication in the American Journal of Agricultural Economics (AJAE) in August 2017. Preference will be given to proposals that reflect a commitment to furnish a high-quality collection of papers suitable for publication. Papers will go through a review process, and it is not guaranteed that all papers in an accepted session will be published. Papers submitted for review should be in their publish-ready state because there will not be time for multiple versions and reviews. Discussant comments will not be published. Authors will be contacted by the AJAE editors regarding style and length of manuscripts to be submitted to the editors for publication consideration.

Format

Proposed session formats with three papers and one discussant or four papers without a discussant are permitted. Proposals for sessions without a discussant must include a clear plan for ensuring and fostering participant interaction. Please note that sessions at ASSA are two hours in length.

Submitting Proposals

All submitted proposals should include:

- Proposed session title
- A brief (approximately two pages) justification of the session
- Paper titles
- One paragraph abstract describing the objective of, and new knowledge generated by, each paper
- Names, addresses, phone numbers, and email addresses of the session organizer, moderator, paper presenters, and discussants

It is the responsibility of the organizer to ensure that all individuals identified in the proposal are willing to participate.

All presenters/speakers/discussants must be members of AAEA. A membership waiver request can be included in the proposal in the case of extenuating circumstances. In addition, participants need to register for the ASSA meeting. AAEA cannot grant registration waivers for the meeting.

Submission Deadline

Please send proposals by May 1, 2016, in Word or PDF format to AAEA Senior Meetings Manager, Mary Annen at mannen@aaea.org.

Selection Process

Proposals will be reviewed and selected by a subcommittee of the AAEA Board. Notifications of acceptance will be distributed in June.

Obituaries

Jason M. Beddow (1975-2016)

Beddow, Jason M. PhD Age 41 of Linwood passed away on April 14, 2016. Jason was born in Florida to Vernell and John Beddow. He earned his BS of Economics at Texas Tech University, MS at Virginia Tech and PhD at the Univ. of Minnesota. Jason was a Research Asst. Professor of Applied Economics at U of M where his research interests were focused on the spatial aspects of agriculture, and how we might better use spatial data to understand agricultural systems. His most recent award (February 2016), a Quality of Research Discovery Award, was the best paper published by AARES members in 2015. His work enabled him to travel to Australia, Africa, Europe, the Far East and South America for research purposes. Jason is survived by his wife Lucy Angelis, father John (step-mother Debbie), mother Vernell (step-father Joe Gover), sister Sean Burns and nephews, Keaton, Hayden & Collin Burns and wife's parents Jinny & John Angelis. He was preceded in death by his favorite canine hiking buddy, Obie, with whom he enjoyed hiking the Appalachian trail. Jason loved animals. He and Lucy have 2 dogs, Decker & Arlo; house cat, Sharpie, 2 horses & 2 semi-feral barn kitties on their small farm in Linwood. A memorial service was held at 3:00 PM, April 20th at the pavilion at Hidden Falls Park, North. Father Richard Andrews will officiate. Donations may be made to the Jason Beddow Memorial Fund, University of Minnesota Foundation, P.O. Box 860266, Minneapolis, MN, 55438 OR Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Twin Cities, in Jason's name.

Curtis F. Lard (1936-2016)

Curtis Franklin Lard, professor emeritus of agricultural economics at Texas A&M University, passed away Saturday, April 9, 2016, at 80 years of age.

Curtis Lard received his BS degree in Agriculture at the University of Tennessee in 1957 and his MS degree (1959) and PhD degree (1963) in Agricultural Economics at Michigan State University. He joined the faculty at University of Tennessee as assistant professor in 1963 and advanced to associate professor in 1967. His reputation was growing, and that same year he was called to join the faculty of the rapidly growing Department of Agricultural Economics at Texas A&M University.

In 1970, Dr. Lard's talents in working with students were recognized by the Dean of Agriculture, and he was appointed Assistant Dean with responsibilities for recruiting and advising across the entire College of Agriculture. He worked tirelessly recruiting the top high school students from across Texas to become students in A&M's College of Agriculture. Once at A&M, these outstanding students depended on Dr. Lard to help them continue to develop their leadership skills and navigate the academic and student government and student leadership development opportunities. Several federal and state government officials and agribusiness executives owed much of their education and leadership development to Curtis Lard. Over the next two decades, the College grew rapidly to become one of the largest and most prestigious Colleges of Agriculture in the world. Dr. Lard played a major role in this evolution making students aware of the career opportunities in agriculture and guiding their matriculation.

Dr. Lard returned to his faculty responsibilities in the Department of Agricultural Economics in 1989. In his classes, he introduced students to the body of economic theory that involves management and problem solving skills. He assumed leadership for the land economics and real estate curriculum emphasizing practical application by using models, case studies, and market studies. During these years, he also garnered external funding support and developed an applied research program on the economic impacts of the green industry and analysis of pest management strategies relating to fire ants.

Curtis Lard retired from Texas A&M University in January 2010. That same year, the Agricultural and Applied Economics Association presented Dr. Lard with the Eagle Award for lifetime contributions to the agricultural economics profession.

Dr. Lard's achievements were recognized by numerous other awards over his career, including:

- The Dr. John Koldus Distinguished Service Award for student relations at the University level in 2005
- The Vice Chancellor's Award in Excellence for Student Counseling and Relations, 2001-02
- Distinguished Service and Leadership Award for the Education of Agricultural Students, presented by the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges, Division of Agriculture, 1989

Dr. Lard contributed to the University, his profession, and the community in so many ways over a career spanning several decades from his faculty position at Tennessee in the 1960s to Texas A&M University in 1967, 19 years as assistant dean, and then as professor in the Department of Agricultural Economics. The students he guided and mentored number in the thousands. They have all benefitted not just from what he did for them while they were at Texas A&M, but he always remembered them and was there to help and support them in career decisions long after they left the campus. The example he set through his service to students, campus organizations, and his colleagues is the mark of a true scholar.

2016-2 GTAP 101 Course

“Introduction to Computable General Equilibrium Modeling”

September 12 – October 28, 2016

The 2016–2 GTAP 101 Course is being organized by the Center for Global Trade Analysis and will be delivered fully online, led by Dr. Mary Burfisher.

Objective

The objective of the GTAP 101 course is to engage participants in an active, team-based process of learning about the GTAP computable general equilibrium (CGE) model and its use in applied economic policy analysis. The curriculum emphasizes an intuitive and graphical treatment of economic theory in the CGE model, and provides structured experiences in manipulating and running the standard GTAP Model within the RunGTAP software environment. RunGTAP is an intuitive, menu-driven CGE model that minimizes technological hurdles and allows students to quickly begin to focus on their economic thinking and experimentation. The curriculum is geared to advanced undergraduates, graduates and professionals. At the end of the course, participants will be entry-level modelers and more informed consumers of CGE-based analyses. The course also serves as an entry point for developing the technical skills required for the GTAP Short Course.

During the online course, participants will:

- Review core economic theories from macro, micro, trade and public finance and observe how they are operationalized in an applied general equilibrium model;
- Learn to recognize, control and interpret the theoretically consistent behavior of consumers and producers in the model;

- Observe the aggregated, macroeconomic impacts of microeconomic behaviors;
- Define model experiments that represent real-world issues and problems; and
- Learn to interpret general equilibrium model results by calling on and integrating their knowledge of multiple fields of economic study.

Structure

The course is fully delivered online, and is supported by the textbook, Introduction to Computable General Equilibrium Models (Burfisher, 2011), which will be provided to all participants. Additional learning resources include audio lectures, guided video simulations, and assessments. Much of the learning will take place through active discussions among the participants and instructor, which are carried out as asynchronous, threaded conversations on the classroom bulletin board. Topics covered in this course include: Database, Demand, Supply, Factor Markets, Trade and Taxes. The course culminates in a group research project which provides participants with a hands-on opportunity to carry out a model experiment and analyze its economy-wide effects.

Application

Individuals interested in taking this course must apply on the GTAP website April 1–June 26, 2016. Applications will be reviewed after the deadline and those individuals accepted will receive an email detailing how to register and submit payment in August. Please note that application does not guarantee acceptance.

Cost

The registration fees for this course are detailed below and include the course textbook as well as instruction during the online course.

- $1,400 (Standard Rate: Developed Country Professionals)
- $600 (Discounted Rate: All Current Students and Developing Country Professionals)

- $100 (Scholarship Rate: A limited number of scholarships are available to applicants residing in a developing country.)

For further information or to apply, please visit the course homepage on the GTAP website at: <http://www.gtap.agecon.purdue.edu/events/GTAP101/2016-2/>.
