

President's Column

I am thankful. In the midst of all of the busyness and challenges of the world around us, I can honestly say that I am grateful. I hope the same for you. While across AAEA, we have different life experiences and social locations. We share a certain level of privilege and voice as members of an academic association. From our student members to full professors to government or business leaders, we have access to resources, skills, and platforms to enact good in our communities and world. Our training is a great resource to employ for the common welfare. In my address this summer, I asked for the membership to find their way toward justice. Climate change, equity (regardless of the dimension), communities in economic difficulty, optimal policy setting, or other areas of your work, I hope that you will work for the good.

I am grateful to see many of you working on big questions and old problems for your stakeholders. We all have a hand in expanding our understanding and moving toward welfare-enhancing outcomes. However, we can get bogged down and lose sight of the goal. We can get tired and frustrated. When this happens, please remember that we are a community. We can build each other up. One of the ways that we can support each other is by listening to each other's stories. Please consider participating in the Listening to Diverse Voices of AAEA webinar on December 5 from 11–12 am (Central Time). AAEA colleagues have listened to and supported me, and for this, I am thankful. Hopefully, you, too, have colleagues, professors, mentors, and friends whom you appreciate having in your life and work.

I am grateful for USDA Economic Research Service (ERS) and its new partnership with AAEA. ERS has awarded AAEA funding "to grow diversity in the field of agricultural economics." Through this initiative, we hope to expand the participation of underserved groups in agricultural and applied economics. I appreciate Spiro Stefanou, ERS Administrator, for his and his staff's leadership in offering AAEA this mentoring initiative. As we begin this new work, I will seek out AAEA members to help support this effort in formal and informal ways. Several of you have reached out to provide support and pointed me to the great work you or your colleagues are doing in this space. I am excited to see these efforts move forward.

Earlier this month, I had a call with the section leaders. We will make additional calls to support these leaders in their effort to guide the AAEA and the Executive Board. On the call, we discussed making the track session submissions more efficient, section budget reporting, and upcoming deadlines for AAEA. We also discussed possible ways to engage members during and beyond the meetings. For example, we discussed the possibility of sections hosting papers under the auspices of the AAEA meeting, but outside the confines of the summer meeting. I am appreciative of this group of thoughtful leaders; they are vital to the function of our association and continue doing a great job of creating an environment for our scholarship and professional growth.

The Executive Committee of the Board and the full AAEA Board have met recently. Our conversations were a prelude to our deliberations at the New Orleans Allied Social Science Association meetings in January. We will have a packed agenda shaping the parameters of our summer meetings. In addition to this Board Meeting, we will have six paper sessions and the T.W. Schultz Lecture. Our award winner this year is Dr. Maureen Cropper, distinguished University Professor in the Department of Economics at the University of Maryland. Her presentation is titled “Estimating the Social Cost of Carbon: Progress and Challenges.” Without question, she will offer an intriguing discussion that will yield rich conversations. After her lecture, we will host the Schultz reception, and I look forward to meeting you there.

We have work to do. Thank you for your partnership in these endeavors.

Norbert Wilson
AAEA President

AAEA News

Call for Proposals:

Invited Paper Sessions – Deadline is TODAY

AAEA welcomes proposals for Invited Paper sessions for the 2023 AAEA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. Papers in these Invited Paper sessions may be published in the Applied Economics Perspectives and Policy (AEPP) in March 2024, subject to review. Proposals from individuals or groups need to be submitted using the online submission system by (TODAY) Thursday, December 1, 2022. Submit your session proposals through the abstract submission website: <https://aaea.execinc.com/edibo/Abstracts>.

The most successful invited papers frame new areas of research, provide a systematic review of an existing area, or offer a novel perspective.

Proposed session formats must include: either two papers with two discussants or three papers with one discussant. Four paper sessions will not be considered.

Proposals will be evaluated using the following criteria:

- The proposed session supports the objective of the Association to further the development and dissemination of systematic knowledge of agricultural and applied economics;
- The importance of the session is well-justified;
- The proposed papers are timely and the topics are likely to generate meaningful discussion during the presentation, as well as interest in a published version;
- It is likely that the session format will be conducive to a clear, focused, and informative presentation of the topics proposed;
- The session theme and paper topics are not repetitive of themes and/or topics previously addressed in Invited Paper sessions;
- The set of sessions will appeal to a broad spectrum of the membership.

Proposals should include session title and rationale, two-page abstracts and titles for each proposed presentation, and names and contact information of authors, discussants, and moderators.

The invited papers should be completed by Thursday, April 6, 2023. These completed versions will be reviewed by the invited paper sessions committee, and feedback to improve the papers will be provided to the author(s). Final versions of the invited papers must be submitted to AAEA by Wednesday, May 17, 2023. If the authors wish the invited paper to be reviewed for publication in the AEPP, it should also be submitted to the AEPP Editors via Editorial Express by Wednesday, August 23, 2023.

If you have any questions about submitting an Invited Paper session proposal, please contact Mary Annen at mannen@aaea.org or at (414) 918-3190.

Track Sessions sponsored by AAEA Sections

Call for Proposals – Deadline is TODAY

The AAEA Executive Board invites Track Session proposals for the 2023 AAEA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. Initial proposals need to be submitted by (TODAY) Thursday, December 1, 2022, to Jessica Weister at jweister@aaea.org. Final, detailed submissions associated with each session are due by March 15, 2023. The AAEA Business Office will work with each Section that submits proposals on their final submission. Tracks are a set of multiple sessions submitted by AAEA Sections, scheduled throughout the meeting and devoted to a common area of interest or topic. The AAEA President determines the number of sessions allocated to each Section. All Section leaders have been notified of their 2023 allocations.

Section leaders are responsible for managing and submitting Track Session proposals. If you are interested in submitting a proposal for a Track Session, please contact the chair of the Section for more information about the session topics that they are seeking. Proposals submitted to the AAEA Business Office by an individual will be referred back to the Section for approval and official submission.

Specific Track Sessions can also be considered as Invited Paper sessions. These sessions need to be submitted through the abstract submission system as an Invited Paper Session (see the call for Invited Paper Sessions for more information), included with the initial Track Session proposals due in December, along with an indication that it has also been submitted as an Invited Paper Session. If the proposed Invited Paper Session is not accepted, it will still be included as a traditional Track Session.

Please contact Jessica Weister at jweister@aaea.org or (414) 918-3190 if you have any other questions about submitting or participating in a Track Session.

Call for Proposals:

Case Studies – Deadline is TODAY

AAEA welcomes proposals for Case Studies for the 2023 AAEA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. Cases in this Invited Paper Session may be published in the Applied Economics Teaching Resources (AETR) in January 2024, subject to review. Proposals from individuals or groups need to be submitted using AAEA's online submission system by (TODAY) Thursday, December 1. Submit your case study through the abstract management website: <https://aaea.execinc.com/edibo/Abstracts>

Proposals are requested for case studies that show how the application of economic principles to decision making in the public and/or private sectors leads to better decisions. Any topic area that illustrates the application of economic principles in agriculture is acceptable. Topic areas focusing on emerging issues such as: renewable ingredients, energy economics, food safety, and company environmental policies (e.g., green scorecard) are encouraged.

Proposals will be evaluated using the following criteria:

- Deals with a problem that has a high level of importance/interest/relevancy to members of AAEA
- Clear and concise teaching objective(s) and target audience(s) (e.g. undergraduate students, graduate students, extension audiences)
- Case summary that presents solutions and explanations of how the learning objectives are realized
- Leads to a better understanding of how the application of economic principles improves decision making
- A general description of the teaching plan for presenting the case to include expected student use of reference materials

Proposals should include: case title, names, contact information of the authors, and a case outline that covers the company or situation profiled, as well as a detailed outline for the case study. The outline should be 3–5 pages in length and a maximum of 2,000 words. The proposal must also contain an outline and ideas for a teaching note. Although, the teaching note will not be published with the case. Of the cases submitted, three winning case submissions will be accepted for presentation at the AAEA meetings by March 10, 2023.

Selected case studies (with teaching note when applicable) should be completed by Thursday, April 6, 2023. These completed versions will be reviewed by the invited case study committee, and feedback to improve the cases will be provided to the author(s). Final versions of the cases must be submitted to AAEA by Wednesday, May 17, 2023. If the authors wish the case study to be reviewed for publication in AETR, it should also be submitted to the AETR Editor by Wednesday, May 17, 2023. Accepted papers will carry a footnote that indicates they were subject to an expedited review process.

Examples of appropriate cases can be found in the agricultural and applied economics literature including: the American Journal of Agricultural Economics (issues 94 (2) and 93 (2)), International Food and Agribusiness Management Review and the Journal of the Food Distribution Research Society. There are many ways to write a case. One set of guidelines for decision cases can be found at: <https://www.ifama.org/Case-Study-Essentials>. If you have any questions about submitting a Case Study Proposal, please contact Michael Storey at mstorey@aaea.org or at (414) 918–3190.

Call for Proposals:

Pre- and Post-conference Workshops – Deadline is TODAY

The AAEA Executive Board invites proposals for Pre- and Post-conference Workshops at the 2023 AAEA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. The deadline for proposals is (TODAY) Thursday, December 1. Selections will be finalized at the AAEA Executive Board meeting in early January and organizers will be notified soon thereafter by the AAEA President.

Submissions will be judged on the merits of the proposal and the space and time available at the Annual Meeting. Organizers will work with the AAEA Business Office to develop a budget for final approval at the January Board meeting.

Proposals should be submitted using the Pre- and Post-conference Workshop Proposal form available on the AAEA website, <https://www.aaea.org/meetings>, Title of proposed session and the proposed date and time that the workshop would take place (potential dates include Saturday, July 22, and Wednesday, July 26).

1. Objectives of the workshop, as well as the timeliness of the subject and why the content of the workshop is relevant to AAEA members/meeting attendees
2. Potential speakers, presenters, or panel members, and the total time required for these presentations.
3. Intended audience and expected attendance at the workshop
4. Contact information for organizers in charge of overall development and coordination (complete addresses, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses)
5. Complete budget information, which includes: financial support expected, speaker travel expenses, stipends, and honoraria, catering needs, administrative fees, and other income and costs. Detailed information will be needed, including any catering requests (e.g. boxed lunches, buffet, coffee breaks, etc.), so that a registration fee for the workshop can be determined
6. Any requests for membership and/or registration fee waivers that may be required in order to properly conduct the workshop
7. Any special software or electronic needs, including if the attendees will be required to bring a laptop

Incomplete proposals cannot be considered. Please include as much information as needed when submitting; there is no minimum or maximum length for the proposal.

Submit proposals using the Pre- and Post-conference Workshop proposal form available on the AAEA website, <https://www.aaea.org/meetings> by (TODAY) Thursday, December 1.

If you have any questions about submitting a proposal, please contact Mary Annen at mannen@aaea.org or at (414) 918-3190.

Selected Presentation Papers and Posters

Call for Abstracts

AAEA seeks submissions for Selected Presentations for the 2023 AAEA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. Selected Presentations are a submission category that represents both Selected Papers and Selected Posters. All submissions are reviewed and accepted together, and only after acceptance are the submissions designated as a paper or poster. At the time of submission, individuals will have the option for their submission to be considered as a poster only. There is no paper only option. Abstracts must be received by Wednesday, January 17, 2023 11:59 PM CST, and should be submitted using AAEA's online Abstract Management System.

Submissions for Selected Presentations must include a two-page, single-spaced abstract that provides a clear explanation of what will be presented at the Annual Meeting. Presenting author and co-authors should include in this abstract a discussion of the relevance of the topic, research methodology, and potential for generating discussion during the meeting. Please do not include your name or contact information in the abstract file.

Tips for selecting a Subject Code

When submitting your paper to the abstract system you will need to select a subject code. The subject code you select is the category your paper will be grouped in when being reviewed based on a common topic. If accepted, sessions are comprised of abstracts with the same subject codes. To assist you with selecting a subject code, the Selected Presentations Committee created keywords for each of the subject codes. We recommend you refer to the keywords for subject codes to help you determine the subject code for your submission.

Abstracts must be received by Wednesday, January 17, 2023 11:59 PM CST, and should be submitted using AAEA's online Abstract Management System. Material previously presented at other meetings cannot be accepted, and the submitting author will be asked to verify that the material has not been presented elsewhere. When entering the title of your abstract, please be sure to submit it as you would like it to appear in the program – with proper capitalization and punctuation.

Review Process

All submissions are subjected to a common, double-blind review process. After the review process has been completed, topic leaders will construct coherent Selected Paper Sessions and Lightning Sessions based on a common topic. All remaining accepted presentations will be assigned as a poster. Presentation proposal acceptance notifications will be sent via email to presenters in March. Emails may be received in spam folders. Should you not find an email by mid-April, please feel free to contact the AAEA Business Office at info@aaea.org or at (414) 918-3190.

Posters

Poster presenters should be available during their assigned interval during the meeting for questions and discussion. The event program and mobile app will list the poster titles, authors, locations, and presentation time. Poster presenters must submit a PDF version of their poster to the AAEA submission site by May 17, 2023 11:59 PM CST. A cover page must be included before uploading. Please prepare a Cover Page using this template and append it to your pdf file before uploading. Please keep submissions under 4 MB. AAEA will upload these posters to the AgEcon Search. Posters that miss this deadline will be withdrawn from the program.

Selected Paper Sessions and Lightning Sessions

Up to 8 papers are included in a 90-minute Lightning Session, and up to 4 papers are included in a 90-minute Selected Paper Session. Therefore, each paper presentation in a Lightning Session is allotted 9 minutes, with 7 minutes to present and 2 minutes for discussion. Likewise, each presentation in a Selected Paper Session is allotted 20 minutes, with 15 minutes for presentation and 5 minutes for discussion.

Presenters of Selected Papers must submit a full version of their paper to the AAEA submission site by May 17, 2023 11:59 PM CST. A cover page must be included before uploading. Please prepare a cover page using this template and append it to your pdf file before uploading. Please keep submissions under 4 MB. AAEA will upload these papers to the AgEcon Search. Papers that miss this deadline will be withdrawn from the program. The full version of the paper has no length limitations, but less than 25 pages is preferred. Double-spaced, 8.5 by 11-inch, single-sided format is requested. Please follow the American Journal of Agricultural Economics style guidelines, with the exception of the single table/figure per page convention.

Submit your Selected Presentation in the online Abstract Management System.

Call for Proposals: Organized Symposia

AAEA seeks submissions for Organized Symposia for the 2023 AAEA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. Proposals are due by Wednesday, January 17, 2023, and should be submitted using AAEA's online submission system. Submit session proposals through the abstract submission website.

Organized Symposium sessions highlight ideas or works-in-progress on a topic involving cooperative or competing efforts by two or more panelists. Symposia may involve panel discussions of prepared questions, debates, roundtable meetings, or other formats. Formal paper presentations are discouraged, nonetheless if such presentations are proposed, the organizer should explain how they will fit into a tightly coherent theme. In all cases, at least half of the session time should be reserved for discussion among the panelists and between the panelists and the audience.

Symposia may offer discussions of policy issues, research methods, emerging research results, teaching or outreach topics, issues in professional organization, or other matters. Proposals should include: session title, session rationale, names and contact information for the organizer and other participants, and a description of the symposium format that includes plans for discussion.

At least one proposer for the organized symposium must be a member of AAEA, and all presenters, speakers, and/or discussants at the Annual Meeting must be members of AAEA and registered for the Annual Meeting by Thursday, May 17, 2023.

If you have any questions about submitting an Organized Symposia session proposal, please contact Mary Annen at mannen@aea.org or at (414) 918-3190.

AETR Call for Papers

Special Issue on Educational Materials About Industry and Market Developments

Applied Economics and Teaching Resources is calling for manuscripts that fit into Extension Education, Case Studies, and Interdisciplinary Narratives relating to innovative and impactful ways of:

- Communicating industry and market developments,
- Evaluating the delivery of government and private program educational training and how methods affect delivery and impact, and
- Training and learning methodologies in industry and non-governmental organizations.

New industry developments, the rollout of new government programs, applied economists' roles in educational programs led by producer interest groups, new models to deliver and assess one-on-one training sessions, and similar educational or extension initiatives are often not documented in the agricultural and applied economics literature due to a lack of hypothesis testing, statistical rigor, or theoretical foundations. Nevertheless, the AETR readership values sharing and communicating technical developments for enhancing learning and elevating training effectiveness for government program rollout and implementation, for communicating market and industry reports, and for methods to assess successes and failures of efforts to support programs and initiatives in government and industry. Such articles and information about educational methods and learning effectiveness may serve as models for adoption and modification by future industry, government and NGO members and serve as tools in the classroom for educational purposes.

Potential topics for this special issue include, but are not limited to:

1. Methods used to communicate new technologies or services to target audiences and measurement of educational success/failure, including how stakeholder targeting, reception, interaction with stakeholders, and barriers to information transfer affect learning and teaching effectiveness. Specific examples or general approaches are welcome.

2. Case studies of technical training related to improved agricultural production, with descriptions of audiences, trainers, delivery methods, learning objectives, and educational outcomes. Innovative approaches to interdisciplinary training methods are particularly welcome.
3. Examples of information and knowledge transfer of government programs supporting agriculture and the agri-food industry, including short-term COVID programs that emerged over the last 2 years. Details of interest could include program learning objectives, training needs and methods, and measurement of teaching effectiveness when measured in terms of interest/adoption and impact.
4. Industry case studies or reports describing the roadmap/ pathway/educational process starting post-discovery of product (e.g., irrigation technology, hemp, vaccines) or service (e.g., drone monitoring, online marketing platforms) to commercialization and market launch, including educational efforts targeting regulatory barriers, how enablers can learn to better facilitate adoption, and government support for training.
5. Industry and market case studies on how to educate about market trends and innovations, particularly if there are classroom teaching or Extension notes/assessments.
6. Extension programs and narratives describing audience, objectives and delivery, tools, and measures of success. For example, this could be an outlet for recent graduate student Extension competition finalists to publish their work.

We expect this special issue will be of broad interest to agriculture and agri-food industry stakeholders, including producers, agribusiness managers, producer support groups, input providers, processors, local to federal government agencies, and extension personnel. Students and educators of agricultural and applied economics, agribusiness economics and management and related agri-food disciplines interested in knowledge and information transfer will also be interested in this special edition.

The special issue will have a guest co-editor Dr. David Hall (dchall@ucalgary.ca) at the University of Calgary in addition to the AETR Editor, Dr. Jason Bergtold (bergtold@ksu.edu).

Special Issue Timeline:

If you are interested in making a submission to the special issue, please submit a 300 word abstract to Dr. David Hall (dchall@ucalgary.ca) and Dr. Jason Bergtold (bergtold@ksu.edu) by December 31, 2022 at the latest. The abstract should describe the overall theme/topic of the manuscript, how it relates to the special issue call, and how it can be used for educational purposes. Your abstract will be reviewed once submitted and you will then be informed if you will be invited to submit a submission to the special issue.

Full papers for accepted abstracts must be submitted through AETR online by March 31, 2023. All papers will go through a double-blind peer review process and be available online via Advanced Access for readers once accepted. All submissions will need to follow the AETR submission guidelines at: <https://www.aaea.org/publications/applied-economics-teaching-resources/aetr-manuscript-submission-guidelines>. If you have questions about the special issue, please email the special issue editors.

Listening to the Diverse Voices of AAEA – COMING UP NEXT WEEK

As our current AAEA President Norbert Wilson put it so aptly this summer in his Presidential Address—what's your story? In this webinar, we'll hear from our panelists about their stories—where they are in their career now, how they get there professionally, and what experiences or forces shaped them and their career that might not be evident from their CVs or résumés.

When: Monday, December 5, 11:00 am – 12:00 pm (Central Time)

Format: Zoom

Agenda: Each panelist will be given approximately 10 minutes to share their story. Additional time is reserved for audience Q&A and moderator questions.

Panelists:

- Grace Melo, Texas A&M University
- Sarah Low, University of Illinois at Urbana–Champaign
- Nathan Kauffman, Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City

Moderator: Titus Awokuse, Michigan State University

Register

Note that space is limited. If at any time you find out that you can no longer attend the webinar, please email us at info@aaea.org to cancel so we may better accommodate pending registrations. Any pending registrants will be reviewed during the time of the webinar in the event there is room.

This webinar series was started in 2020 by the AAEA Mentorship Committee to provide an opportunity for AAEA members to share their diverse experiences, career paths, and backgrounds and for others to learn from their experience. Recordings of previous webinars in this series are available on AAEA's YouTube channel (search within the channel for “diverse voices”).

Workshop in “Survey Design & Experimental Methods in Applied and Agricultural Economics”

<https://fab-lab.wpcarey.asu.edu/international-school>

The workshop will cover theoretical and practical knowledge regarding surveys and experimental methods. In addition, delegates will be familiarized with state-of-the-art software, and will design their own practice experiment through hands-on training.

Instructors include Vincenzina Caputo (Michigan State University), Carola Grebitus (Arizona State University), David Just (Cornell University), Jayson L. Lusk (Purdue University), Rudy Nayga (Texas A&M), and Matthew Rousu (Susquehanna University).

The workshop will take place from May 22 to May 26, 2023, at Arizona State University. It is open to academics and non-academics. Seats are limited, and registration is based on a first come, first served basis.

For more information about registration click here: <https://fab-lab.wpcarey.asu.edu/fees>

For more information about scholarships click here: <https://fab-lab.wpcarey.asu.edu/scholarships>

Call for Papers*Tata-Cornell Institute for Agricultural and Nutrition (TCI)

In celebration of its 10th anniversary, the Tata–Cornell Institute for Agriculture and Nutrition (TCI) is holding a two-day conference on the nexus between food, environment, and health. The conference will be held at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York, from May 10–12, 2023. It is aimed at bringing together scholars working at the broader intersection of food, the environment, and health with cutting-edge methods and novel datasets to further our understanding of future food system challenges around the world.

The changing demand for food—influenced by and influencing the environment and ecosystem—with its nutritional and health implications, is increasingly becoming the most important challenge facing the global food systems. There is a greater need for more robust evidence on these complex interlinkages.

TCI invites extended abstracts (2,000 words or less) describing proposed research papers on the interrelated issues of food security, nutrition, the environment, and health. Submitted abstracts should clearly delineate the research question, data, and methods. We are particularly interested in quantitative research that uses novel datasets, and rigorous quantitative methods, from across developed and developing countries.

Please submit extended abstracts to tci-conference@cornell.edu with the subject “Conference Abstract.” Abstracts should be submitted no later than December 7, 2022. Applicants whose abstracts are accepted will be notified by December 21, 2022, and invited to present their full papers at the conference.
